"The collection of coins has not only become an infatuating and engrossing pursuit among thousands of persons of all ages and either sex, but out of it has grown up an extensive trade, furnishing the means of livelihood to numerous individuals in all our large cities. Prices have risen a hundred fold, in some cases almost incalculably; unreasonably; and speculation has been rife...

(from The American Journal of Numismatics, Vol. 1, No. 1, May 1866.)

OUR TERMS OF SALE

1. All coins are guaranteed genuine. I will replace or issue a refund for any coin found not to be genuine. This is a lifetime guarantee. Over ten years of business I have never had to make good on this promise. But I make it anyway for your protection.
2. All attributions are guaranteed correct. Also a lifetime guarantee. I will issue a refund or if available provide a replacement for any coin found to be mis attributed.
3. A full thirty day return privilege is allowed on all purchases. Returns may be made for any reason, or no reason. My business depends on attracting repeat customers. It does neither of us any good for you to keep a coin with which you are not completely satisfied. I am confident that the overall quality and value of the material I offer here is second to none. This does not mean that you might not order a coin that fails to satisfy your personal taste or desire. It is even possible for me to have missed a defect or to have been optimistic about the grade. It can happen. But it is not my intention. I encourage you to use the thirty days as an approval period. Feel free to show your purchases to other knowledgeable EAC members. Get a second opinion. All sales are final after the thirty day period, though I will certainly consider an extension upon reasonable request.
4. Approval service is also available to established clients. Seven days inspection is allowed on approval service at which time the coin must be returned or funds remitted. Approval sales are considered final after the seven days. Extensions are available upon request.
5. All orders are sent postpaid.
6. Strict ANA and EAC guidelines are followed in grading.

In addition to strict ANA and EAC guidelines I have introduced "value" or "net" grading into my descriptions. Sharpness or technical grade according to ANA standards is fairly easy to describe with consistency. However most old copper coins have acquired defects over time that detract from the overall desirability of the coin. I describe these defects and deduct from the technical grade based on their presence. As an example a coin might be described: "1805 S-267 VF20 Sharpness of VF20 with smooth brown surfaces, some light pinscratches where corrosion was removed at 9 o'clock on the reverse." Here is a coin VF30 by ANA standards but with scratches at one o'clock on the reverse. Plainly the coin would be more desirable were the scratches not present. I describe the defects and deduct ten points from the overall grade. The first grade listed represents the net or value grade. Clearly this is an art and elements of subjectivity are inevitable. Where there is no second grade listed. It is my opinion that the net grade is the same as the sharpness grade. Perhaps not perfection but whatever marks present have been judged to be consistent with the technical grade of the coin and do not detract from the net grade. The intent is for you to have as close an idea as possible of the overall condition of the coin you may wish to purchase. No unpleasant surprises!

7. I attempt to give a rarity rating for each variety listed. These in large part reflect the current EAC rarity ratings as compiled by Jack Robinson's Copper Quotes. I also offer opinions relative to condition census ratings die state and condition rarity. These change constantly as new coins are discovered and reported. I attempt to use the latest data or information available. Still these ratings cannot be 100% accurate and remain a matter of opinion only. Having said this I can also say with confidence that more information and more research is available on Early Copper than any other area of American Numismatics. Large Cents have been actively collected and researched for more than one hundred years. One can therefore have a high degree of confidence in the general accuracy of current information. I urge all my clients to form the numismatic library necessary to allow them to make informed judgments and purchasing decisions. It is foolish to invest money in coins if you have not already invested in the books and other sources necessary to the full enjoyment of them.
8. I have yet to meet anyone who has bought coins merely as an investment who has realized a net return upon liquidation. I have, however, met numerous serious collectors, who having formed a discriminating collection over a period of years realized a substantial profit when their collection was ultimately sold. Most collectors find that the enjoyment, education, and friendships formed as a result of their collecting pursuits have been their greatest reward. It is much easier to lose money quickly than to make money quickly in rare coins. If you are not willing to undertake the educational process necessary to make well informed decisions regarding your collection you will almost certainly lose. Coin dealers are often more than willing to give investment advice. As my good friend Jack Robinson, (who's collection did very well for him when it was sold in 1989), likes to say. THINK ABOUT IT! When you ask a cat which canary to buy remember his first concern may not be how well it sings! There are many opportunities to do well financially in rare coins. But as with any other medium of investment, success is the result of a combination of knowledge, good timing and the ability to wait for the right time to sell. Commit yourself to the process of becoming an educated collector and you stand a much better chance of success.

Chris

Thank you for the many comments regarding our sale number nine at the recent ANA convention in Baltimore. It was our biggest sale yet with a realized price of over $200,000. Prices realized appear at the back of this catalog. This was one of the most successful ANAs ever for early copper collectors. Among US exhibits the best of show was won by John Griffin for his display of New Jersey Cents. Second went to Gerald Kachel for his display of 1825 Half Cents and third to Millard Hajek for US Copper Restrikes. That's a sweep! I would have to print a separate catalog to list all the honors won by EACer YNs John Kraljevich and Rian Thum. John's exhibit on the evolving editions of Dr. Sheldon's Penny Whimsey won best of show among YNs while Rian's exhibit on the development of Late Date Attribution texts placed second in the same category (both had higher scores than the Adults in their categories). Rian and John had multiple exhibits, winning honors for each one. The future for early copper collecting looks as bright as these two young collectors.

Les: I forget! There is much new material presented here in catalog #41. I was very successful purchasing nice copper at ANA. A number of nice Colonials from a collection disbursed at ANA. A great 1797 C-2 as well as a number of other Half Cents from a small collection I purchased. The John Garrett 1794 S-31 and A nice red Proof 1841 N 1 are among the highlights. I am attempting to include more moderately priced material as well. I hope to present something of interest to each of you. Your comments are always welcome.

The formation of a new club focusing on Colonial coins was announced at ANA. It should be a worthwhile organization for anyone interested in early copper. Dues presently are only $2 and you can join by contacting Mike Hodder at P.O. Box 606 Wolfeboro N.H. 03894. I'll be attending the following shows: East Coast Expo, Parsippiny N.J. Sept 9-12, Cincinnati Oh., Sept. 17-19, Long Beach Sept. 29-Oct. 3, St. Louis Nov. 11-14, Dallas Tx Dec 3-5. Our next all copper auction will be held in conjunction with the Long Beach show. Saturday night Oct. 2nd at the convention center in Long Beach California.

INTERESTING FEUCHTWANGER COMPOSITION CENT

1837 FEUCHTWANGER CENT

AU50+

AU55 Fully lustrous with a much sharper than normal strike. A few hairlines visible only with a glass. These "German silver" cents were minted by Dr. Lewis Feuchtwanger in and around 1837 as pattern cents promoting the good Doctors (he was a dentist by trade) alloy made of copper, nickel, tin, zinc and antimony. Dr. Feuchtwanger freely distributed examples of his cents to mint officials, who regarded him chiefly as an eccentric and likely felt he would better serve the nation by busily filling teeth with his marvelous alloy. The cents circulated freely during the Hard Times period when federal coinage was hoarded. Also there are those who see a distinct similarity between Dr. Feuchtwanger's pattern and the nations first small cents' flying eagle design. This example is unusually nice as these are more often found indifferently struck and well worn. (photo)

 Sharp lustrous tan to brown faded from mint color. Lots of frost. Perfectly centered with a sharp strike. A beautiful cent possibly among the top half dozen specimens of the variety. I am aware of only two specimens I would call significantly superior. THE GREAT BOTTLE CAP HUNT

A few weeks ago I took my two boys, ages seven and eleven, on a camping trip along with three of their friends. We did all the usual camping type things, swimming, fishing, hiking, (we saw a couple white tail deer and an armadillo!) cave exploring, campfire making, marshmallow toasting. All that stuff. As kids do, after a couple of days they were creating their own activities. One activity soon outstripped the rest, bottle cap collecting. Having found a couple of stray bottle caps near our campsite the boys soon were searching every nearby campsite for the precious metal disks. One thing became apparent right away. Beer bottle caps far predominated with soda caps almost non-existent. Whether this was due to the drinking habits of campers in general or a possible predisposition of soda drinkers to neatly dispose of their caps in the trash while beer drinkers flipped theirs on the ground, one can only guess. A hierarchy soon established itself. Budweiser caps were the most plentiful followed by Miller Light and Coors Light. A cap with an intricate crest for Seagram's "flavored beer" - whatever that is- was a highly prized item until a hoard of six of them (more than one per child) was discovered and the cap lost its allure. The premier early rarity was a bright red cap with the name "Sharps" spelled out in white script and the brand name "Miller" in brilliant gold letters beneath. Initially valued at three Budweisers and two Coors Lights, its owner refused to trade and thus its value remained speculative. A slightly battered "Perrier" bottle cap (not the twist kind) traded for five Buds and two Bud Lights. Thus upping the ante for the Sharps.

As the hunt continued Budweisers became so plentiful that caps in less than mint state were of nominal value and those that were slightly bent or badly discolored were not even worth the bother of picking up. However, rare or newly discovered caps continued to command interest. The discovery of an example of " Cerverceria Modelo" hecho en Mexico created a fire storm of trading activity with complicated trades being arranged (and broken) to effect the proper mixture of Buds, Coors and Millers required along with a couple of exotics like the Perrier and an IBC root beer to win possession of the Modela Cerverceria. The Sharps continued to hold its premier position as " KING" of the caps until the appearance of a beautiful blue and gold "premium beer" horsehead facing right cap. The product of Rolling Rock breweries in Latrobe Pa. This cap with its glamorous horsehead motif, beautiful blue and gold coloring coupled with mark free surfaces and a generally pristine state of preservation immediately supplanted the Sharps in the public imagination.

With the discovery of the Horsehead cap the owner of the Sharps suddenly became more receptive to the idea of a trade and eventually the Sharps was traded for what amounted to an entire other collection of caps including well over a dozen different varieties with many multiples included in the deal. Along with the proviso that the Sharps could not be sold or traded except back to the original owner.

A few days after returning from our trip I was in the grocery store having pretty much forgotten about the bottle cap market when my seven year old who had accompanied me to the store came running up to the cart firmly grasping a six pack in each hand. "Dad Dad! Guess what I found! I looked down to see the twelve red white and gold Sharps bottle tops staring dispassionately back at me. My son had discovered what every true collector eventually will: treasure IS sometimes found but most often it must be paid for.

So now as I sit here about to enjoy my first Sharps brand non-alcoholic brew. I try to sort out just what I've learned by all this. I'm not sure. But I know I'm looking forward even more to Paul Padgett's Central States convention in Cincinnati this September, situated as it is right next door to famous Oldenberg brewery. I won't have to search far for that special "Dad whatcha bring me?" gift for the kids.

ANS

In the ongoing saga of ANS. Representatives of the American Numismatic Society were present at the EAC meeting in Baltimore. Finally after two years ANS has admitted that the alleged villain behind the missing Clapp cents is Dr. Sheldon. A difficulty ANS has run into in their labyrinthine efforts to claim ownership of 129 early date cents pedigreed to the George Clapp collection has been that no perpetrator has been named. Up till now no explanation has been given as to how 129 cents just disappeared for over fifty years without anyone knowing or apparently caring that they were gone. In the meantime though ANS had implicated a prominent California collector in the theft.

For those interested here is a little background. A prominent collector George Clapp wrote a letter of gift donating his Large Cent collection to ANS in 1937. However the collection was not actually delivered to ANS until 1946. In the intervening time it was kept in Clapp's home of Pittsburgh PA. Clapp died in 1949. Presumably it is ANS' contention that Dr. Sheldon switched coins without their knowledge or consent. Substituting a 'lower grade coin for a higher grade coin of the same variety. The difficulty arises in trying to determine how coins from Clapps's collection came into the possession of Dr. Sheldon. Certainly a large number of Clapp coins it appears were in Sheldons hands at one. Lawyers notwithstanding it isn't the "what happened" that is at issue. It is the "how did it happened " that needs sorting out. It is known that Bill Clark the curator at ANS made trades with collectors for coins in the ANS collection. Exchanges were made with collectors such as Dorothy Paschal and Homer Downing. ANS has records of these exchanges. However they apparently do not have any records of exchanges with Dr. Sheldon. Now why a cunning and ambitious man like Dr. Sheldon would allow himself to be completely left out of these trading opportunities with ANS I don't know. Especially when two of his close friends were actively involved with the exchanges.

However apparently it is clear that many coins from the Clapp inventory did make their way into the Sheldon collection before it was sold intact in 1972. Further apparently the Clapp pedigree was no longer attached to the coins when they were sold. It is alleged that Sheldon falsified the pedigrees on the coins he obtained from Clapp. If so this raises questions of why Sheldon would change the pedigrees. Sheldon died in 1977. At that time ANS was apparently still unaware that there was any problem with the collection. So what is the solution to this? It seems to me ANS has some obligation to put up or shut up! Thus far all they have succeeded in doing is clouding the reputations of several prominent collectors both living and dead. That, and convincing just about everyone that there are serious deficiencies in the way ANS has administrated its collection over the past fifty years.
